

Scale your business with comprehensive data security

Reduce risk, automate workflows and gain near real-time threat visibility

Enterprises today operate with multiple types of data and users spread across the globe. Although this drives productivity and opens new business avenues, globally distributed data in the cloud can create security blind spots and compliance headaches. With the multitude of industry-specific and country-specific compliance regulations, constant vigilance and safety protocols are essential to securing your sensitive data.

IBM® Guardium® Insights is a data security solution that centralizes data activity monitoring across your entire data landscape. The unified platform helps your security team perform tasks more efficiently, without needing to manage and switch between multiple tools.

Get complete visibility

See everything happening across your data, whether it's stored on premises, in the cloud or in hybrid environments. Consolidate fragmented security tools in a single view, monitor every database interaction and identify suspicious activity quickly.

Simplify compliance

Automate data security reporting and auditing, simplifying compliance with predefined reports that align with industry standards. Save time and resources by reducing noncompliance risks.

Improve incident response

Prioritize threats by severity and focus on the most important issues. Immediately identify abnormal activity in near real-time and automate incident response workflows, minimizing potential damage and downtime.

Guardium Insights empowers leading global organizations to secure their data in the cloud by providing data-driven, actionable security insights and a holistic view of their data security posture.

Data is the most essential asset for any enterprise and remains one of the most prized goals of bad actors. While data security and compliance in a multicloud world are essential for business scalability, Guardium Insights can help you manage compliance regulations and detect data threats in near real-time so that you can truly benefit from the freedom of expanding your business into new markets and regions.
